

CELEBRATING CENTENARIANS

Peg Williams, 100

“ I love the outdoors ... I'm not a city person, really. ”

Peg Williams, far left, celebrated her 100th the same day neighbor baby Rachel turned one.

Margaret “Peg” Williams, who turned 100 recently, shared her centennial as the center of attention at a party attended by artists, writers, political activists, merchants and many others. Stories of her charm and spirit flowed easily from her friends and neighbors, who share a close-knit neighborhood in Massachusetts.

Williams, a watercolor painter, was born in Philadelphia and grew up in a Brooklyn, New York, neighborhood. She attended the Pratt Institute of Art in New York City.

When asked to what she attributes her longevity, she commented that she never married. But she traveled the world and found great companionship with her beloved dachshunds, through which she met many friends, who also shared an affinity for dogs.

Read more about Peg Williams and her fascinating life: www.adlercentenarians.org.

July 2007

Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat
1	2	3	4 Independence Day	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28
29	30	31				