Lula Johnston, 100

*I believe
in being
positive
and in loving
everybody. I love
being around people.”*

Lula Johnston wasn't born in Georgia, but she's spent the past 95 years living there, reaching the century mark on July 6, 2008. She's as sweet and nice a person as you ever will find. Lula now lives with her daughter, Lou Ellen, who says she's a real pleasure to be with, always positive, never negative and very loving and giving. Indeed, in so many ways, Lula is an inspiration to her three children, 12 grandchildren and 38 great-grandchildren, and she enjoys passing on life lessons. She is also an inspiration to everyone else who meets her. "I believe in being positive and in loving everybody," she tells. "I love being around people."
